PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR’S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors’ response to final evaluator’s comments
I find that the paper has been improved in terms of English language and in terms of additional literature. However, the author(s) have forgotten to include the new references in the references section. I cannot understand the reference in line 84. I am also not persuaded by the authors’ explanation about the use of correlation analysis. The authors claim that they know the direction of the causal relation of the variables, but they do not discuss about it. I still find that Table 3 (now Table 4) is not needed and the p-values could have been included in the text.	We have continued to improve on English. New references have been included. Reference in line 84 has been removed. Granger causality test has been included. Table 4 was replaced by the Granger causality test results. P- Values were included in the text.
