Compulsory REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments	It is an interesting reviewing about the anti schistosoma vaccine and the Baboon as an ideal animal model for schistosomiasis studies. 1. However, there are some sections that require redaction or revision. 2. It is noted that possible material included in the manuscript such as pictures require the permission of property in the corresponding case . 3. I think that more recent information is required unless it is too limited. 4. A section of competing interest issue is required in the manuscript. 5. I think some material in the introduction is not necessary. Authors should focus on material related to the title of the manuscript.	1. Some sections have been redacted and revised. Additional information has also been added as required by the other reviewers. 2. The pictures belong to this author. They are pictures of liver and colon sections of baboons experimental infected with S. mansoni. 3. Recent information has been included in the revised manuscript. 4. This has been included 5.
