

Editors Comments:

Organization of references introduction /overview is improved for scientific purpose. Authors should rewrite introduction part again explaining each reference in detail.

1 Language of whole paper is revised of scientific way. I strongly recommend the authors to change the title of the paper (e.g. computational approach for the solution of some Electric circuit problems).

2. Quality of graphs/ figures is good still authors are required to improve results and Conclusions and add some text of section 4.

3. Numerical solution of the paper is not specified and what is used of software to solve the system of equations.

Authors Feedback:

All references cited in the introduction/overview and the entire body of the work have been fully explained.

The title of the paper has been modified as suggested.

Graphical results have been improved (by taking more terms of the Taylor's series as starting value for the newly derived computational method and also by taking a smaller step size) but with little change in the nature of the plots. The conclusion has also been modified.
