

Editor's Comment:

The authors made necessary editing in the article. Now, this article is acceptable for publication with minor few editing that can be readily incorporated in the manuscript without need for my further approval.

Authors should put the wording in abstract change (including water availability) to (i.e. water availability).

Authors have subtitles starting with the capital in the first letters in some of them and some do not start with the first letters in capital. Example: Mann-Kendall Analysis vs. Sen's slope method. Authors need to be consistent (pick the style and format).

One of the reviewers suggested authors to put "r values". I am not sure if I see that in the manuscript.

Authors should change the wording when they refer to their figures and tables from Table nos 1,2 and 3 to Tables 1,2 and 3 (they should remove nos throughout the manuscript).

No acknowledgement section in this manuscript. Funding source and/or institution and some key supporters of this project may be mentioned in the acknowledgement.

Once authors make those edits in their manuscript, it is acceptable for publishing. I do not need to approve the further editing, let the authors incorporate them before the manuscript is printed.
