

Editor's Comment:

I read the article again. The manuscript still contains a lot of errors:
No unified units. The text graphically and editorially is unacceptable. The form of writing equations makes the text unreadable, etc., etc ...

In addition to my science/research work, I work on designing of wastewater treatment plant. The article does not contain any new information; it is a slice of the project.
Therefore, I think still, that in such a form of article, it cannot be published.
