123,124 lines; If you can add citations for the definitions it will add high presentation value for the paper. 133- If you can add very latest definitions (2017,2018) it will add more reality and rational to the article. 195-196- How did you obtain the alpha value? Is it from a pilot test or what? Pl. mention that. 196- Pl. Cite here to prove that the acceptable value for the reliability coefficient of 0.82. 263- Spelling mistake Important note: Questionnaire is the skeleton of the research which will be analysed and evaluate to find the solutions for the research questions. So the questions must be unique and must show the convergence power through their own variables. So it is very important to run the factor analysis and check the factor loadings and discriminant validity with various criteria to prove the Validity and Reliability of the instrument.	Thanks so much for your meticulous comments and corrections spotted out from the paper to ensure its standard for publication. We really appreciated your efforts and your pedagogical experience. Once again thanks so much. We also appreciate your important note regarding factor analysis on our questionnaire.
