Compulsory REVISION comments	Development of stability indicating and robust RP-HPLC method for determination of Teneligliptin The above article can be published in Asian Journal of Applied Chemistry Research after minor corrections <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The Author/s is asked to maintain the uniformity throughout the manuscript. Spaces have not been left between units (eg2.38 g and not 2.38g). 2. All the References were not included. There are many articles published recently. Please include all these references to justify other publications 3. Recently E. A. Rathod. et al. has published, HPLC AND UV-SPECTROPHOTOMETRIC ESTIMATION OF TENELIGLIPTIN FROM TABLET DOSAGE FORM Asian Journal of Pharmaceutical Analysis and Medicinal Chemistry 4(3), 2016, 148- 156. The submitted manuscript procedure is more or less related to the above published method. 4. So, the authors are asked to give some extra points to prove the superiority of your method than the published method.
