Compulsory REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments	The article is interesting, but the author must clarify a hypothesis: not to study and an analyze but to prove some ideas	We thank the reviewer for this remark This study stands more from a sociological perspective and uses more qualitative data. We avoided breaking down our objective into hypothesis to avoid raising expectations (from the reader) that we will conduct statistical tests. This research strategy is well known in social sciences. Even without hypothesis, this study proves that the dairy sector is dynamic and actors because of the perceived interdependency developed internal arrangements (short market channel) to reduce transaction costs. We also prove that social capital does not prevail in business when livelihood is at risk.
