

Editor's Comment:

By analyzing the complete process of the manuscript "Occurrence of gas charged sediments and pock marks in "semob" fields offshore western niger delta: implications for offshore operations", there are substantial improvements derived from the evaluations and corrections.

However, I agree with the previous editors. It is necessary to solve the error related to the references.

Missing in the list of references: Rao, 2001.

I recommend accepting the short research article for publication if the observations of the evaluators and editors are made. Also, I do not think it's necessary that I must revise it again.
