Compulsory REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments	The manuscript is well structured with its objectives well achieved. The discussion is well presented and consistent with the introduction and materials and methods. The following are some corrections to done: 1. It's better to use "absolute values" in the "results section of the abstract" rather than just stating that: "... had higher concentrations" 2. Write "NIRS" in full in the first paragraph in the "Introduction section" as you have done with "HPLC" 3. Insert "error bars" in Figures 1, 2 and 5. 4. Check the spacing between "districts," and "fifty" in first line of section 2.2 5. Referencing in the text: The numbers should be separated by "commas" e.g, [5, 11] or [8, 9, 11, 12]	1. Revised sentence 'Chlorogenic acid and fat concentrations of 13.26 and 13.19 % dry matter respectively reported in this study, were much higher than 5.88 and 9.0 % dry matter respectively reported earlier' has absolute values 2. NIRS inserted in full as 'Near Infra Red Spectroscopy (NIRS) 3. Error bars inserted in Figures 4. Spacing corrected 5. Referencing throughout the text , numbers separated by commas
