

Editorial Comments:

The authors have included the previously missing introduction. However, the present version of the manuscript is still poorly written, with some inadvertent plagiarism; and need thorough proof-reading.

I have made several comments, and some editorial, within the paper itself: this should help the authors.

Attachment: manuscript with comments and critical edits.

Note to authors: In your next revision, please highlight the revised text within the manuscript itself, for example with yellow highlight like this OR use track change.

You may also want to look at high-quality published papers for guidance on this journal's expectation here: <http://www.sciencedomain.org/abstract/24851>

Author's Feedback:

Thank you very much for your patience and your efforts in revision of the manuscript. Indeed, I make changes, revise references and put abbreviations. Also the new corrections were highlighted.