PART 1: Review Comments

	Reviewer's comment	Author's comment (if agreed with reviewer, correct the manuscript and highlight that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here)
Compulsory REVISION comments	Your conclusions lack scientific foundation. There is no correlation between an infection (HBV, HCV) and the waist circumference (WC) or waist height ratio (WHR) of any human being. The pathogenesis of any infection commences with the inoculation of the host by the infective agent irrespective of any proportions of the body.	Indeed, as the review committee said: " The pathogenesis of any infection commences with the inoculation of the host by the infective agent irrespective of any proportions of the body. " In the conclusion section, We also have revised. Since obesity is associated with many diseases and the deterioration of the disease, this study hopes to prevent obesity by finding the correlation between obesity indicators and HBV and HCV, which may help to reduce the progressive deterioration of HBV and HCV. There is also literature (32) pointed out that weight loss can help with the progression of chronic liver disease. We look forward to the future follow-up study to assess the effectiveness of weight loss to help us understand.
