

Editor's Comment:

The manuscript was modified according to the requests of the reviewers, being attended.

I recommend the manuscript for publication, following the three reviewers, however, I believe that a manuscript, regardless of the research area, should highlight why the result found is important. Why is it important? In that, the observed result may contribute to the studied population.

I noted mentions of the importance of differentiating birth weight between males and females in the introduction, but I could not observe this in the authors' conclusion. I missed this because it makes it difficult for other authors to cite this article published in this journal.

However, following the understanding of the 3 experts consulted, I consider the manuscript accepted as annex.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Emiliana Cristina Melo

Professor, Universidade Estadual do Norte do Parana, Campus Luiz Meneghel, Bandeirantes, Brazil