

Editor's Comment:

I was not a reviewer but I've gone through the manuscript. From the abstract, you have the lack of scientific rigour. The problem needs to be clearly stated. there is a difference between genus and species; this had been repeated along the text. In Botany as in Forestry, scientific names must be completely written. The authors must review the use of the term frequency. There are some confusions to be clarified as that term.

Need more improvement
