Compulsory REVISION comments	The topic selected is good and relevant in the current scenario. The comparative analysis of the electrolyte values obtained after the consumption of Jatropha tanjorensis at 7th and 14th days seem to be a bit confusing. The differences in the electrolyte concentrations in in 7th & 14th day require justification i.e why the concentrations notably declined in 7th day and elevated at 14th day. The interpretation of the results need more explanation. Very strict editing of the entire article is recommended. Spelling & grammatic corrections suggested. Definite style should be followed in reference writing. More data shall be included in introduction and discussion.
Minor REVISION comments	Usage of words in certain paragraph may be changed/modified. Eg: The leaves of the plant Jatropha tanjorensis was carefully plugged off from the branches and83 was washed to remove dirty on the surface of the leave. grinded ???? Language used in this article can be improved.
