Compulsory REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments	1-The manuscript needs more recent references as the most recent one is 2010. 2- The names of antibiotic resistant genes which are much common must be written. 3- Conclusion needs to focus more on how to protect people from salmonella. Are there ethical issues in this manuscript? Yes there are ethical issues	1. The references cited are the most recent as many recent documented work on Salmonella focus rather on their molecular analysis rather than antibiotic resistance. 2. The authors noted a few in lines 104-109; 166-178. Moreover, during the course of the review, the authors discovered identification of resistant genes of Salmonella is still an ongoing research focus yet to be fully explored. 3. Noted and effected. 4. This review was generated as a result of a research carried out in 2014 to ascertain antibiotic resistance patterns of Salmonella spp in akure, Ondo state, Nigeria of which the authors received ethical permission from local health authorities before the research was commenced in earnest. Thanks.
