PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
The author has addressed most of the concerns especially with why the resettlement? However since this question is a very important component of this paper, the research questions should reflect the same. I.e. Why the resettlement program? Or what are the pros and cons of the resettlement program? This paper revolves around these questions. Otherwise what the author(s) will just be doing is describing the events and processes without addressing the real issues.	The reason for the resettlement programme has been highlighted in some parts of the paper, especially the introductory part. However, it should be noted that the main focus of the paper is on the conditions of the resettlers after the resettlement scheme and not on the reason for the resettlement (which is to give room for the implementation of the Federal Capital's urban master plan). To give details about the successes and failures of the implementation of the master plan will require another survey.
