The paper has been improved from its first release, but there are still some comments: Related work section about Cloud-based Architectures for real-time Applications should be improved. Some findings may be stated from that review. I wonder why air companies do not implement systems like that. Where are the problems? How are they addressed in this paper? Minor comments: Editing improvements must be made in the text and images. References to figure 2 in page 7 are wrong. Numbering of titles and subtitles are wrong.
