

Reviewer's Comment:

I have gone through and have these comments:

1. In the abstract I still insist the third sentence which reads and natural beauty which avails magnificent structures should remain so and not change to read which available magnificent structures.....as currently highlighted.
2. The second highlighted word in the abstract "centred" is more British and since this is a British journal as the journal name suggests, I believe we should go that way. "Centered" as the author is trying to change it to as highlighted is American spelling. He should please take note. The fact that his PC has underlined the word means his PC settings is on American English. He should please take note.

Author's Feedback:

I am grateful for reviewer points and kindly suggestions. I appreciated all suggestions and editorial corrections on my manuscript to be a better style. Thank you all efforts and helps. I am very happy to submit my manuscript on this journal. This help and improvements make me happy.

1. I accept changes in third sentence of manuscript '.....avails magnificent...'
2. I accept changes in third sentence of manuscript '..... centered.....'

I carefully checked to my manuscript. I agree and accept all changes made by yours. So I did not find any other problem in my manuscript.
