Errors in the last names of authors and it is better to take the English variant of the article

Author's Feedback:

Thank you very much for your Efforts.

With respect to the Editorial comments I would like to explain the following:

I cannot change the last authors names for the following reasons:

- 1- These name are real their names as they are registered in their official institutions.
- 2- There are many articles for those researchers published in famous international journals in the same well-known these names.
- 3- I published an article entitled Vanishing g -Bochner Tensor of Viasman-Gray Manifold in your journal British Journal of Mathematics & Computer Science, 8(6): 470-481, 2015, Article no.BJMCS.2015.179. And I used these references with these last names.
Also I published many papers in many international journals with using the same names.
- 4- All these names for Russian authors, so they are written by the English forms that appeared in our paper.
