Compulsory REVISION comments	I have checked that all calculations are true! However English of the paper is very poor and not well-written. The authors have to ensure that the paper is written in good scientific English. Moreover, the differential geometry of curves in the ambient spaces is a quite large work area, so the authors should provide a blanket introduction. Last, the authors should rearrange a good References section.	First I want to thank you for your important comments about our paper. I corrected the mistakes about the language, especially at the beginning of the paper. References section is revised.
