COMPULSORY REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments
Optional/General comments	This manuscript entitled “Prescribing guide for Baclofen in the Treatment of Alcoholism – For use by physicians” is no doubt an important and prospective study for the daily practice of medicine, especially for Alcoholism treatment. Overall, this manuscript provide a complete study and experience record based on the author’s clinic practice on over 1500 patients. Although the previous reviewers from clinic perspective agree that this is a well written manuscript, I insist that the abstract and main context should be written in a formal paper format rather than a casual record of experience. For example, “You will frequently notice that there is no absolute consensus and that prescribers have different approaches and practices in the

	conduct of treatment."in the abstract part, the way in that the author wrote is like a casual talk, not a formal presentation of findings. I would highly suggest the author to revise the whole manuscript to be a formal and objective one. Overall, the author has answered all of the questions that previous reviewer raised, and revised according to the comments, I recommend it to be minor revision.
