

Editor's Comment:

I just checked the documents connected to the manuscript 2018/CJAST/39618 - Following few things need to be done before the paper can be accepted for publication:

1. The reviewer Evrim ARICI should check the revised manuscript and give her/his OK, since here a major revision was requested.
2. Thereafter, the authors should give full names for the Abbreviations used in the abstract (BAP and 4-D).
3. The authors should give all the materials used in more detail (chemicals and cultivars used with information on how or from where they acquired these and in what quality)
4. The Authors should give a list of all the abbreviations and their explanations used in the study. This could be added before giving the References.
5. I am also missing information on callusing in the introduction, why is it necessary and what potentials does it bring. Please also explain the terms callus induction, proliferation and caulogenesis shortly in this context. Finally, the authors should give some background in the introduction on the known effects of media and growth regulators on the process - which types are preferred - pros and contras.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Harshadrai M. Rawel
Professor,
Institute of Nutritional Science, University of Potsdam, Germany