Introduction: - References for the definition of dementia are missing. - The introduction is still very lengthy and is not focusing on the topic of the paper. Introduction should not exceed 20% of the manuscript length and sure not exceed 1-2 pages. You are not writing a book about the subject and you should only write what matters to your research question. Methods: - Thank you for adding the cut-off points but you also need to put the reference of the cut-off points or the reference of the test itself.
