Compulsory REVISION comments	1)The importance of screening adolescents for hypertension and target organ damage need to a be highlighted by quoting facts and figures from literature . 2) A few months study period is too small to draw inferences about target organ damage . An emphasis on absent adolescent target organ damage would be counter productive to the interests of the article as it is likely to send wrong signals of drawing hasty conclusions. 3) The situation can be retrieved by instead of emphasising the fact of no target organ damage in the affected group, emphasizing that this group need to be given close follow-up for early detection of target organ damage.
