

Editor's Comment:

Having gone through critically the comments of the reviewers and the responses of the author, I observed that the author responded adequately to the suggestions of the reviewers. The issue is that, the Title of the research corresponds to the research work reported but the first 10 lines of the abstract and the whole of Introduction are on renewable energy which are not relevant in this research as it is basically on comparative propagation of a tree plant.

My suggestion is that the author, despite having interest in publishing on renewable energy has not conducted a research on it, as expected parameters and information required on researches on renewable energy are missing, so the author should expunge every aspect of the work that has to do with renewable energy and include reports and write up on Comparative propagation of a tree species. With this development, the work will now be on Comparative Propagation.
