Compulsory REVISION comments	The paper focused on Subtotal thyroidectomy under local anaesthesia in a pregnant woman presenting with giant goiter by a case of a 17 week pregnant woman who presented with giant goitre and respiratory obstructive symptoms, which is interesting. However, I have few questions or suggestions. 1.A short description of the current therapeutic research about thyroid neoplasms in pregnant woman should be added in the introduction section. 2. The blood biochemical examination results should be added in the Case Report. 3. Pathological section results should be added in Fig3.	Correction done and short description of current therapeutic on thyroid malignancy in pregnancy included.
Minor REVISION comments	1. Check entire manuscript for some digit, English language and typos and grammar errors. 2.The authors must adhere to the formatting guidelines provided by the journal
Optional/General comments	It can be considered for publication after some corrections
