PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
Since this is an experimental and exploratory study, the authors in their conclusion should emphasise that the results are promising but further studies will be required not only for a safe doses but also for its feasibility, long term outcome and translation to general population. Regarding tables, it is usual and customary using symbols which also render a lesser overcrowded data.	This point is well noted and the corrections effected on line 223 of the manuscript. As per the tables, we have no idea what exactly the reviewer is trying to communicate to us as regarding symbols.
