	Table 1 You must make a table in good form with a title as follows: Table 1. Characteristics of study population Table 2 Make a normal table You must write "Table 2. Pattern of renal diseases during 3 year review period" and not "Table 2 : PATTERN OF RENAL DISEASES DURING 3 YEAR REVIEW PERIOD" The presentation of Table 2 does not facilitate its comprehension. I suggest that the parties 143 Aetiology of CKD 144 Hypertension 145 Chronic glomerulonephritis 146 Diabetic nephropathy Be italicized and assigned an Asterix (*), with a reminder at the bottom of the table that the persons of these different parts belong to the group CKD. 158 You must write "18 (5,5 %)" and not "18 (5,7%)" Figures The titles of figures for this journal are placed at the bottom of the figure and are as follows: Fig.1. Leading causes of renal disease in bsuth. Fig. 2. Pie chart showing outcome of patients with renal diseases. In the text references should cite as follows: 33. You must write "mortality [1]" and not "mortality¹" 46. You must write "(AKI) [4, 5]" and not "(AKI)⁴⁻⁵" 52. You must write "adults [7-9]" and not "adults⁷⁻⁹" 52. 	"complication^{10,11}" 199. You must write "Etyang et al [24]" and not "Etyang AO et al²⁴" 230. You must write "Ngwogu et al [36]" and not "Ngwogu KO et al³⁶" 230. You must write "Wachukwu et al [37]" and not "Wachukwu CM et al" REFERENCES At the level of the references all the authors of a given article must appear in the quotation therefore the expression et al no longer has its place. As for the names of the journals, they must be written entirely or abbreviated, but never both. You have to put a point at the end of each citation.	Noted.
Optional/General comments	The scientific quality of the article to our evaluation is indisputable. However, the many forms of faults that mark the manuscript might affect that quality. Therefore, we propose correcting these mistakes to forms for improving the final document that will certainly be an important tool for the scientific community.	Thank you so much for your comments and time. The corrections have been effected in the revised manuscript.
