Optional/General comments	Any special reasons apart from the 10 year period to survey the years from '96 to '06? I believe it would be useful to compare the different requirement standards in the targeted skills of the Universities examined in the comparative paper in order to evaluate how much remained as useful knowledge after a given time period post graduation.	WE wanted to probe our search back to 1996, the time when simulated education and training started gain increasing momentum in to be CME.
