

Editor's Comment:

The manuscript is interesting and the findings will be important for a broad readership in the developing world. Some additional minor corrections including:

1. Authors should change the word "antimicrobial activities" to "antimicrobial potential" in the title since they used only 1 strain in each category of microorganisms.
2. Using the available literature, they should discuss the link between phytochemicals present in their extracts and the inhibition of bacterial or fungal growth either in section 4.2 or in section 5. Such as Terpenoids and essential oils are known to inhibit bacterial growth as reported in the following manuscript and many others.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Mokarram Hossain
Snyder Institute for Chronic Diseases, University of Calgary, Canada