PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
It is interesting to note that the whole experiment was conducted without knowing/confirming the pest. Science needs confirmation and clarity. Hence it may be confirmed first whether the damage and there by rectification with the treatment i.e. neem oil is due to bruchids or Homalinotus coriaceus (also known as Broca-do-cacho-do-coqueiro). Otherwise it will be headless paper. The work carried out by Link and Costa, 1982, jhonsons et al, 1995 and Adilson Tonietto and Gilson Schlindwein, 2016 on the same subject may be referred and incorporated.
