

Editor's Comment:

The author has failed to revise the paper (removal of "series 1" in fig. 7b and references are not in order as commonly required by journals for publications i.e. in order of increasing numbers in numeric but not in alphabetical order for the name of author) in accordance with the two reviewers from Nigeria namely Agbasi Okechukwu Ebuks and Module Elizabeth Ojewumi. So either it should be rejected or it should be send for re-revision, if the journal 's policy permits. Since the revised paper lacks the intact and consistency in the content (though these are nontechnical) so it is liable to be rejected if the journal's policy does not permit it. Or it may be sent to chief editor who has the final/discretionary authority in such types of controversial case.
