FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
I am not sure if these results should be published: herbs and alternative medicines might be good as complements for cure, but not as the only method, since Medicine is different and it has its own chemical compounds and drugs. I would say yes to publish if something is said about Chinese herbs medicines and if title is changed and clearly explained this herbs are taken with little percentage of illness improvement (not preference by patients).	The work has been updated and re-cast as demanded sir. Also, the use of plant as an alternative remedies especially in the rural areas cannot be overemphasised as discovered in this work. Thank you.
