<ul style="list-style-type: none"> All the eleven references given at the end of the manuscript, should appear in the text in relevant places. After the sentence you can put them in brackets. For eg. : Take the below mentioned sentence 'There are two types of piles, internal piles and external piles. Internal piles expand inside, along the anal. The common symptom of internal pile is the painless blood loss(Noto, 2009)'. (This is just an eg. Technically, the statement above may not be from Noto,2009) In this manner, all the 11 references – with the name of the author & year-should appear in the relevant part of the text . This depends upon for which part of the text you have referred a specific book or research paper. It may be in Abstract, Introduction, Materials & Methods or Conclusion. Once all references are incorporated in its relevant places, you may proceed for publication. Best Wishes
