FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
The Author has not examined the example article. And the article is still full of many typos. Which are marked on the text. These errors must be corrected. There was a part that I wanted to explain, but Author did not explain it and it is not clarified. Only sentence removed. There is also no correction in the references section. It must be rearranged according to the rules of the journal. In addition, the entire text must be revised again by the author in terms of conformity with the rules. Please review the sample article on the page of the Journal.	All comments have been attended to. Typos and errors have been corrected, further explanations has been given for pathogenicity test and selection of entomopathogens. References have been rearranged and edited. Please note: Typos may also be as a result of opening the file with a different version of Microsoft office word other than the one used in the preparation of this manuscript. Doing this will merge some different words. Microsoft office word version 2007 was used in writing the first draft.
