| Compulsory REVISION comments | Line 35: "Optical coherence tomography (OCT) is a new medical diagnostic imaging technology..." It is not correct. Please write here the year of introduction. This technique is not "new" anymore. Line 40: "oct" has to be written with large capitals. Two main types of OCT have to be mentioned in the introduction. Not all OCT has 10 micron resolution. A lot of typo is presented throughout the paper. The English is very poor, requiring a professional improving. The description of macular diseases is very superficial and must be moved after the "OCT scan protocols" paragraph. After it, the diseases are explained well. It is confusing. "Principles" paragraph must be moved to an earlier section. The style of the reference is not unified and full of typo. The sources of pictures are not written. In conclusion, the manuscript must be totally restructured and needs a comprehensive improving in grammar and in content. Moreover, it looks an unnecessary work about OCT, even as a review. | All the corrections made suggested by the reviewer.                                                                                                                           |
