FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
I proposed to the author to ask someone who has a good command of the English language to correct his work. There are still other many corrections to be made. The work is not complete due to this deficiency.	All my acquaintances that have a good command of the English language were involved into creation of English version of manuscript. Unfortunately English language is not native one for me and all of them. Could you please help us and provide an example of "bad" style English in manuscript and example of how it could be corrected?
